

Keith McCarroll, PT Physical Therapy

Keith's aunt was a physical therapist and she inspired a love of the profession in her nephew. "I did volunteer work with hospitals and sports teams in school and enjoyed it, so I pursued the profession," he explains. As a provider, Keith strives to help people understand their issues and the best evidence-based treatments for those issues. He believes that in many situations, patients can self-manage with his expert guidance. "Many physical issues can be improved through lifestyle changes, which ultimately come from within the person," he furthers.
